It is a door
through which lies happiness
and excitement —

It is whatever one makes it — it is simply to give oneself.

Franklyn
E.
Dunham

To this man we owe more than we can give,
For how can we repay that which he has given to us?
Time, Trust, and Thought.

When we were Freshmen, so was he —
And in his search for a path to follow
He uncovered many roads for our tomorrow.

We admire him — aspire to be like him;
But most of all
We respect him.

To him we dedicate this book
As an attempt to return some of the respect
Which he first gave to us.

Dedication

In Memory —

Bobby Whigham

Bob Potter

To Bob and Bobby —

We never lost as much but twice, *
And that was in the sod.
Twice have we stood beggars
Before the door of God!

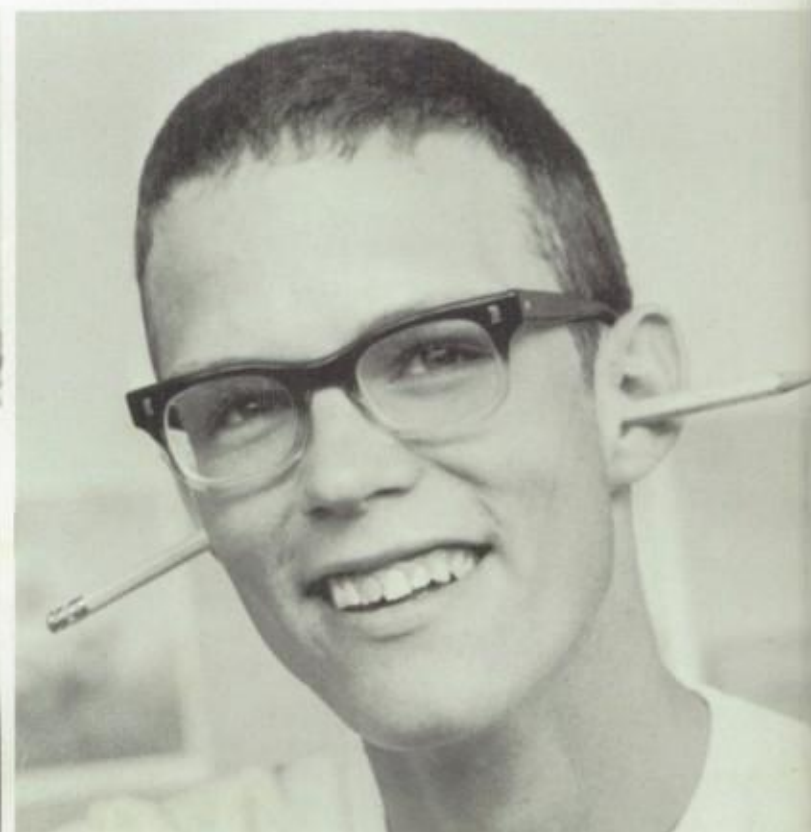

Angels — twice descending
Reimbursed our store
Burglar! Banker — Father!
We are poor once more!

The Senior Class of 1969

* Dickinson, Emily; I Never Lost As Much But Twice.

"Foreign Travelers"

I will long remember the summer of 1968 as one of the most educational and exciting times of my life. This summer, I discovered the country of Japan. During my two-month stay in Japan I lived as a part of a Japanese family named Nishimura in southern Honshu. I was one of an otherwise six-member family then, though I was at the same time one of a much larger family, an international youth group called Youth For Understanding, whose headquarters are located in Ann Arbor, Michigan. I was just one of about 40 students selected to visit the country of Japan.

We all learned many important things this summer, not the least being the fact that brotherhood and knowledge of oneself and others among the peoples of the world is the link to the peace and understanding that we are searching for. I wish everyone could visit another country. Maybe this is what we need to bring us to our senses.

Barbara Dauerty

During the month of October, I was fortunate enough to attend the 1968 Olympic Games in Mexico City. This was an experience I will never forget. Seeing people from 110 different countries living and working together, treating each other as their own countrymen, makes a person realize how unimportant most prejudices are. If all people could live their lives with the same kind of attitude, this world would really be a great place to live.

Jane Rogers

I was happy and excited when I learned that I had the privilege of going to Maribo, Denmark, to live with the Lorenzen family on an AFS Scholarship. The year proved to be even better than I had anticipated. I learned that the only way to achieve complete communication between people of different nations is to speak their language. This is something a tourist can never experience. I began to appreciate the melody of languages, the theater, to notice architecture of a building, and small things which I had never considered before. I learned that AFS'ers have problems of adjustment, etc. in their host families—and that these problems tend to bring them closer to the families. I met groovy Danes and Americans who became my friends—and always will be, even though we may never see one another again. I learned that friendship is more important than almost anything else—and that you must not judge a person by his appearance.

Kathy Sutcliffe

Exchange Student From Ethiopia

I am tremendously happy to get this opportunity to cast you my hearty, warm sense of gratitude to you, the students and instructors of Paul V. Moore High School, who looked and look at me as a brother, a friend, and a foreign exchange student, with great expressions of love and fraternity.

I left my city, Harar, to my new destiny, America, within a short period of time. I was excited and thought I was being exiled—for a fruitful hope, a fruitful path which profits me in understanding between peoples of different nationalities.

To live in a new environment, in a strange land with strange people, seemed to me to try the impossible, till I came as an AFS'er and cultivated my education here, in America, so culturally, socially, and mentally. Through talking frankly, walking together, and playing together with great fascination with you, I got prodigious happiness degrading the depression I feel being a foreign exchange student. From the beginning of the school year, I have enjoyed everybody's smile and grinning and am thankful to your hospitality and friendliness.

To some, a year is one day, and after it passes, it is merely a dream. However, my staying here in the U.S.A. with you, my classmates with whom I established everlasting acquaintances, is a new charge, an important role, an unforgettable era of my life history.

Your affectionate welcome of me to your school and your nation is so great that I can't expose and demonstrate it to you. Nevertheless, your concern about me, your respect of my homeland and thoughts will live and die with me.

Cordially yours,

The AFS'er

Exchange Student From Germany

Robert Schmid

As I review the last five months, I must say that some of the greatest experiences of my life have taken place in the village of Central Square. There have been many new things for me to learn about my new family, my school, and my community.

I, like my predecessors, was extremely nervous about my first school day, but the warm welcome, that each of you extended, restored the confidence that I had lost. Since that first day, many people have helped me, whenever I have asked for help. There has always been somebody available to explain the various things which I did not understand.

I am most thankful to my American family who have proved to be more than an adequate substitute for my family in Germany. I cannot say that some days have not been unpleasant, but I have been surrounded by my friends. I never felt really lonesome. I am very thankful to my teachers who have been very understanding and who have helped me with my initial troubles of adjusting to my new environment.

Although I receive a lot of encouragement from my American mother, I continue to dread large assemblies and making speeches.

I owe many things to my family, my friends, my teachers, and my community, but I am fully aware of the fact that, if it were not for the American Field Service, this opportunity to learn more about you and your country would have been greatly limited.

ADMINISTRATION

Mr. William J. Hughes
Superintendent

To the Class of 1969:

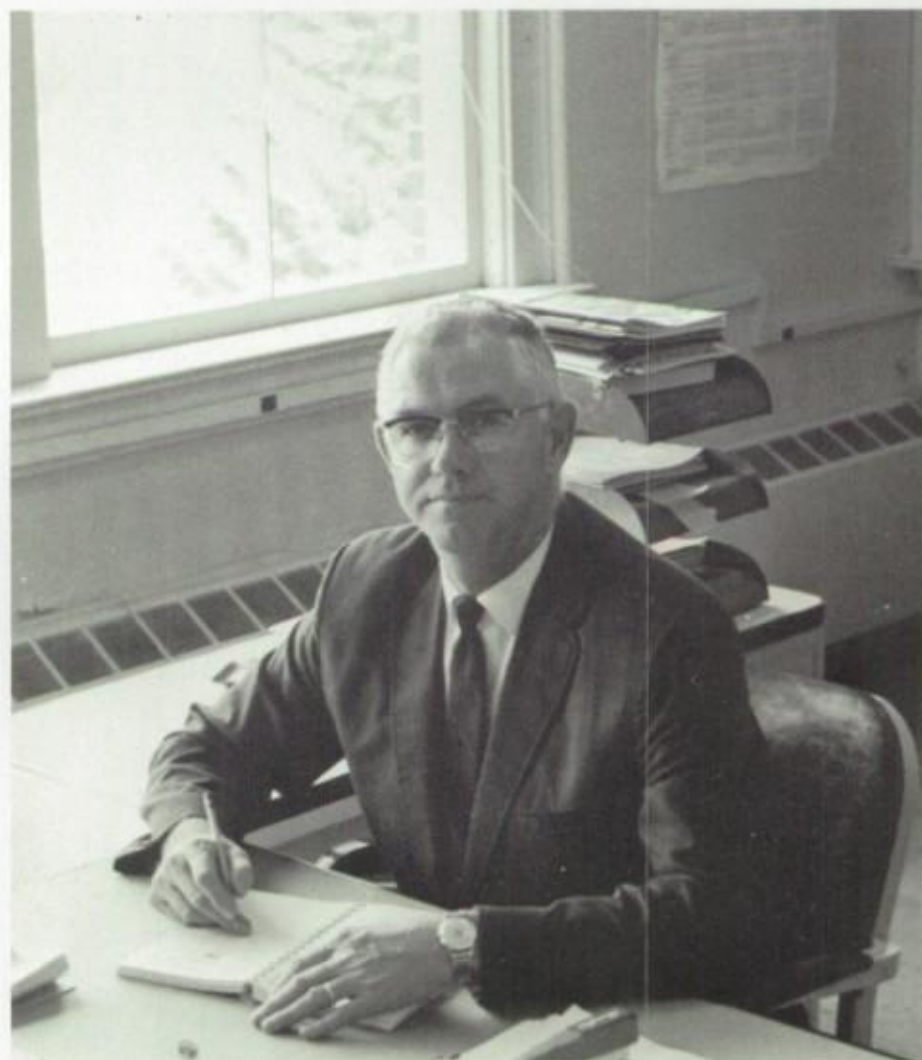

Our school system is completing one-quarter of a century, 25 years. In 1994 it will have completed one-half century and each of you will have long since finished your education, settled yourselves in life-long positions, and dispersed yourselves all over the globe. Some of you will remain in this area but most of you will only jet back (in 1994 your children will ask, "What is a jet?") for an occasional visit with family and friends. You are completing your education for this next twenty-five years, but your education formal or otherwise must not end here. Remember, when you return for your twenty-fifth class reunion in 1994 the young will be those who have kept their thinking and education abreast of the times. See you in 1994! Best of luck.

Congratulations, Class of 1969

I should like to congratulate the class of 1969 on achieving your goal, graduation, for which you have worked diligently several years.

Your parents and teachers are to be congratulated too, because through them, you have attained this important goal, among others in life.

Now you have many more objectives to reach, and I am sure you are prepared and ready to accept the challenges that face you. Good luck in your new paths of life.

Mr. LeRoy J. Merriam
Assistant Superintendent

Mr. Robert W. Miller
High School Principal

Congratulations to the Class of 1969:

One of man's goals this year of 1969 is to reach the moon. Years ago little boys, when they were letting their fantasy run wild dreamed of setting foot on the moon.

How does utter fantasy become reality in less than 40 years? It does so through the imagination of man, the education of man, and the co-operation of many men in solving complex physical and mental problems together.

Graduates of the Class of 1969 we know your generation will solve many of man's problems, some of them yet undreamed of, in the years ahead. We believe that the faculty of Paul V. Moore High School has given you the basic education that will enable some of you to take at least a small part in bringing your generation's imagination to fruition. Remember, dreams can become reality.

Graduates of 1969, our world is a world of turmoil and uncertainty. Whatever the world of tomorrow may be, one thing is certain—greater effort will be required of all.

I know you will use the experience you have gained in school in an effort to deal with these problems.

You have the right to be responsible for both your successes and your failures.

Good luck in the years ahead.

Mr. Franklyn E. Dunham
Assistant Principal
